Let it be known, out of moral respect for any personal rights one may have, with respect to the books that we load onto our website for our members use, the Science Of Being World Center has personally obtained or has exhausted all possible methods to respectfully be granted permission to do so, regardless of out of date public domain laws. We will also be crediting any organization that is dedicated to the disciplines of any material we post, so as to support our members to be in direct contact with authentic teachers of that learning modality. Manmade laws are not above the Laws of The Absolute’s or the Universal Laws; the Lightbearers walk in Divine moral relations with our fellow brethren; where there is “Divine Moral Integrity” there is hope for Humanity.
